2. Conversations with various descendants living in North Carolina.

During the early part of the 17th century, William Reynolds was born some place in England. We have no record of the location or the date of this event. We do have a record that William Reynolds married Margaret Exton and that to them were born three sons: John in 1650, Francis in 1652, and Henry in 1655. There is no record of John and Francis other than their births, but we have a fairly complete record of the last son, Henry. When he was 21 years old, in 1676, he emigrated to America. He made the voyage in one of the small sail ships of the time and spent 22 weeks making the journey.

He settled at Burlington, New Jersey, where he remained two years but in 1678 he married Prudence Clayton, daughter of William and Prudence Clayton of Chichester, Pa. (Chichester was then in Chester County, but is now in Delaware County and is in the southeast part of the state.) At the time of his marriage, Henry moved to Chichester and lived there the rest of his life. He died August 7, 1724 at the age of 69 years.

There is a tradition that Henry raised corn on Dock Creek, a section that is now in the city of Philadelphia. He took up 1,000 acres of land in the Nottingham Settlement which was a Quaker Community located in the southwest part of Chester County, Pa., which he gave to his two sons, Henry and William. He gave to another son, Francis, the home farm of 290 acres, and John 210 acres. Thus, all the sons were provided for.

To Henry Reynolds and wife Prudence were born ten children, five boys and five girls. Two sons were named William. The first one evidently died as a child for ten years after his birth, they named a second child William. The history of the boys will follow in their turn. We have no further record of John than his inheritance.

The Chamness family had an interesting history. Anthony was born in England and at the age of 13 was lingering along the banks of the Thames River and decoyed in some way on board and was brought to America where he was bound to some one to pay his passage. He fell into the hands of a Quaker who tried to help him locate his people in England but was never able to do so. When he became of age and a free man, he drifted into Baltimore County, Maryland, and there met a bond girl, named Sarah Cole. He helped her work out her freedom so that in 1736 they were married. Here they lived till 1738, then moved to Frederick County, Maryland, where they lived until 1748 or 49, when they moved to Orange County, North Carolina. We know that when Cane Creek Meeting was organized in 1751, Anthony was made Verser, an important office in the church. On moving to North Carolina, they settled on a 300 acre farm, one mile west of Cane Creek Church and continued to live there until their deaths: Sarah in about 1773 and Anthony 1778. They were both buried at Cane Creek.

Such was the history of the Susanna Chamness that married Jeremiah Reynolds, oldest son of William and Mary. Some time later a second Jeremiah Reynolds, son of William and Ann Hutton Reynolds, and nephew of the first Jeremiah, married a Susanna Chamness who was a niece of the first Susanna Chamness and a granddaughter of Anthony Chamness.

Although considerable care has been exercised to be accurate in this record of the Reynolds family, there certainly may be many errors. It is hoped, however, that we will be forgiven if errors have been inadvertently made. The record is necessarily incomplete but includes all the information available.

The system of numbers used should be clear enough. The first number represents the generation from the original William Reynolds. The number following the dash designates the individual in that generation. These numbers have been used consecutively in each generation.
